

State barely keeps 1992 highway funds

BY TRACI BONNEY

Mississippi barely escaped losing nearly $14 million in federal funds this year.

So said Lt. Col. Billie Hughes, chief of the Mississippi Highway Patrol's uniformed division.

Hughes explained that the Highway Patrol must monitor motorists on state highways once every three months to see how many exceed the posted speed limit of 55 miles per hour. The results of the monitoring are documented and submitted to the State Highway Department in October at the beginning of the fiscal year.

If more than 50 percent of the motorists monitored are exceeding the speed limit, the state loses federal highway construction funds.

"The state barely squeaked by for this year. We were just under the 50 percent. So we're safe at least until next October," Hughes stated.

One way the Highway Patrol is working to catch speeders, he said, is by equipping enforcement vehicles with dual antennae for running radar.

"In this type of operation one antenna is placed on the dash facing forward and one antenna is placed in the rear-deck panel facing backward."

When the patrol car is moving, the front antenna monitors the speed of oncoming vehicles; the rear antenna monitors vehicles going away from the patrol car.

"The rear antenna is very effective in monitoring vehicles whose drivers, after they pass a patrol vehicle traveling in the opposite direction, think they are safe to speed up."

Hughes said the Highway Patrol has about 100 radar units that are adaptable to the dual antennae operation.

Because of cost constraints (the antennae are about $271 each), only a few have been installed in enforcement vehicles.

"While it is the responsibility of the Highway Patrol and other law enforcement entities to enforce speed and all other laws, drivers have a responsibility also to obey the law whatever it may be including the 55 miles per hour speed limit," Hughes said.

Females and football?

Diamondhead woman breaks Alabama tradition

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Ginger Gilmore of Bay St. Louis is one of two young women who has earned an unprecedented place on the male-dominated Alabama University football field.

For the first time in nearly 100 years of Alabama University football history, women can be seen running up and down the sidelines tending to the injuries of the Crimson Tide football team.

Gilmore will graduate this coming May as an athletic trainer with a degree in education.

"I hope to work for a big college or with a professional team," she explained.

"I don't think there are any women in the pro arena at this time, but I'm willing to be the first."

Gilmore said women started showing up as student equipment managers in the mid-1970s and by the early 1980s, women as student trainers were common in major football programs all over the nation.

"I became interested when I took a class called basic athletic training. I have always been interested in sports and the man who taught the class was the head of the program."

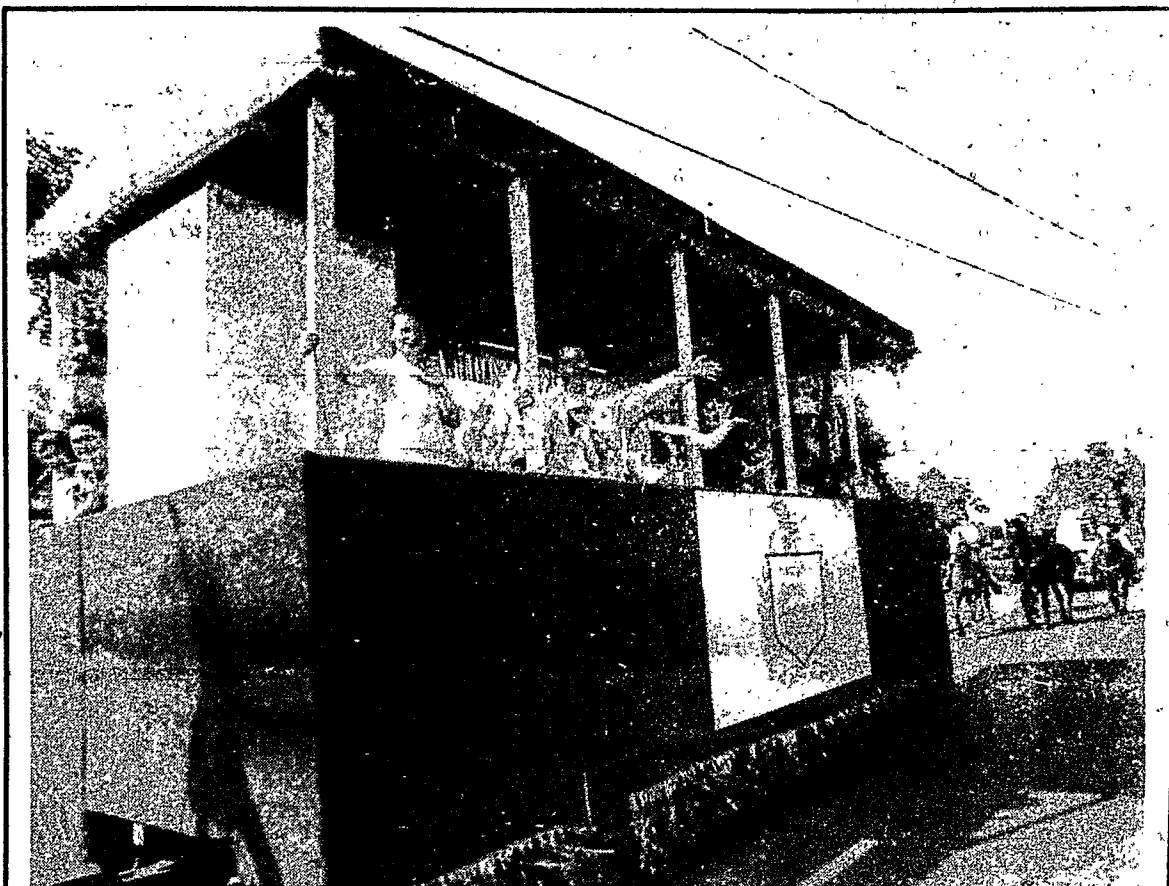

"The curriculum for the major (athletic training, in the College of Education) requires all students, male and female, to be involved in a collision sport, such as football."

"So, for the major to keep its accreditation, and for the graduates to be recognized by the National Athletic Training Association, women have to be involved in football, as well as all other sports."

Gilmore said she had worked in all the athletic programs available at the University with the exception of football.

This year, when the word came that she and fellow student Donna Westley of Bir-

P&H considers crane

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission became somewhat excited Tuesday over the possible purchase of a federal surplus 500-ton crane.

Commission director Harold "Buz" Olsen told the board that Congressman Gene Taylor informed him of the sale of the crane, thinking it would be useful to tenants at the Port Bienvenue Industrial Park. Olsen said Dan Mortimer of Gulf Coast Fabrication expressed interest in leasing the crane.

The crane will cost the commission $20,000 should they decide to purchase it. The board authorized Olsen to investigate the condition of the machinery and cost of transporting it to the park.

Commission president Ronald Artigues passed along a request from Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre for the commission's help in the cost of lighting Hwy. 90 from the Bay bridge to the city limits.

Commission attorney Robert Genin said the request should go through the board of supervisors. Artigues agreed to contact board of supervisors president Ronald Cuevas and inform him of Favre's request.

According to Artigues, Bay St. Louis received a 75/25 matching grant for the estimated $150,000 project. The poles would be put along the median at 150-foot intervals and would be double-lighted. In other business the board approved:

—dockets for general and railroad operations, industrial park revenue, port and harbor and airport construction, railroad car wash, rental facilities, terminal fund and infrastructure improvement;

—resolutions authorizing payments for EDA interest due December 1 and public relation services provided in October.

Commission engineer Carlos Cordon reported that the effluent line for the Calgon Carbon Corp. plant at the industrial park is almost complete. He said plant construction is proceeding slightly ahead of schedule.

Doll and Toy Fund brings children joy

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one in a continuing series of articles about agencies and services supported by the United Way of Hancock County.

BY TRACI BONNEY

For local children who would otherwise face a toyless Christmas, the Hancock County Doll and Toy Fund is a real blessing.

From its beginning in 1973, the fund has mushroomed into an organized effort that provides toys for more than 1,000 children. The fund was started by the Bay St. Louis Fire Department chief and gave toys to only 16 children in its first year.

Current fire chief Andrew

Lizana said that under the administrations of former chiefs Robert Gavanie and Greg Richardson, the fund grew slightly, with rare financial donations supplementing the supply of used toys.

When Lizana took over, he organized the effort, bringing it to its current status. He com-

Fund needs support

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

The Hancock County Doll and Toy Fund will be trying to make Christmas happy for a record number of deserving children.

Bay Fire Chief Andrew Lizana, chairman of the fund reports, registrations for deserving children has already begun and, "I have already been informed by agencies that there will be a record number of youngsters this year because of so many jobless people."

Last year, the Doll and Toy fund made Christmas happier for some 1,112 deserving youngsters.

The Doll and Toy Fund started out many years ago as recycling project of a few bicycles and toys by the Bay Fire Department for about 16 families.

It now has grown county-wide with the toys being delivered by firefighters, deputy sheriff's and Bay and Waveland patrolman a few days before Christmas.

"Four years ago, the number of deserving youngsters increased to 1,000 and has been gradually moving up from that number," Lizana said.

Funding comes from donations of toys, (new and slightly used), cash donations by individuals, organizations and businesses, and it is also an agency of the United Way of Hancock County.

Lizana states, "I will be making my regular contacts within the next few days, and if there are others who would like to help, please give me a call at 467-4736."

"It takes the help of everyone to make this program successful," Lizana added.

mented that as the parent of a large family he can empathize with parents who are unable to provide for their children at Christmas.

One of Lizana's efforts was to make the toy drive a year-long effort instead of a seasonal one. His office often contains bicycles and boxes of toys, which firefighters are able to repair during their spare time.

month before Christmas, the car wash is set up at a local area. If you want to have Mayor Eddie Favre or a state senator wash your car, this is your chance.

Toys are distributed by means of a list compiled by the county welfare department. About two weeks after Thanksgiving, the department begins accepting names. The list is submitted to the fire department, and the dispatcher makes out index cards for each family to ensure that no one is forgotten or overlooked.

Toys are bundled into bags and boxes with the families' names clipped to them. At least one new toy and several good used toys are provided for each child. As a rule, the gifts are not wrapped, in order to give have made possible the purchase of new toys and gifts for the children," Lizana said. "County retailers have benefitted, too, because my policy is that as much as possible, toys and other items are bought locally."

Recently, state and city officials have become involved by starting an annual car wash, with the proceeds to be used for the Doll and Toy Fund. About a

'Celebration of the Gulf' planned Nov. 23 in Pass

Special to the Echo
 "Pass Christian Celebrates the Gulf—Nature's Richest Realm," is the title of the education festival being held in the Pass Christian Harbor Saturday, Nov. 23, beginning at 10 a.m.

The celebration is being planned to coincide with the first day of the "Race of the White Wings." Last year's winner, "Corsair," will be defending the cup for Pass Christian against challenges from the "Glen L. Swetman" of Biloxi, and the "Cyrus E. King" from Orange Beach, Ala.

The race is a two-day event. Saturday's race course will begin and end in front of the Pass Christian Harbor. Sunday's race will take place in Biloxi.

Race day in the Pass will be observed with a celebration staged in the West Harbor area. The charm and crowd appeal of old fashioned schooner racing is being coupled with a well-developed and sophisticated marine education program. National and regional organizations have been offered the opportunity to use "Celebration of the Gulf" as an avenue for publicizing their educational and ecological activities.

The Mississippi Gulf Coast Chamber of Commerce is expecting 20 to 25 groups to bring exhibitions relating to the Gulf. This will be an opportunity for the public to become acquainted with the research and conservation work being done by a wide variety of organizations operating in the region.

Participants have been asked to bring hands-on, lively displays dealing with marine wildlife, wetlands, barrier islands, etc. The response has been overwhelming and is shaping up as an education event not to be missed.

There will be lively music and lots of good food—oysters on the half-shell, barbecued chicken du lait and a red beans and rice cook-off.

A special race-day trolley will ferry people from the harbor to the downtown area where merchants and restaurants have special activities planned.

For additional information, call the Pass Christian Chamber of Commerce (601) 452-2252, or Ed Watson (601) 452-9508.

Card of Thanks

My husband, Clyde (Sonny), joins me in thanking all our friends and those people we don't know personally for all the prayers, masses, novenas, rosaries, etc., that were offered in my behalf. The Lord was listening to each of you. He pulled me through the surgery with flying colors, and I am mending very nicely.

Thanks also for the many get well cards, encouraging notes and inquiries as to my progress.

Special thanks to Father Noel Fanon, members of the St. Vincent de Paul Society (St. Clare Conference), Fran Temple, Nelma Martinez and Mike Ladner. Thanks also to the area priests and lay persons who stopped by to offer me their blessings.

My deepest appreciation to my husband, to Virginia Monlezun, to Tiger Harris and all our workers who so tirelessly kept St. Vincent de Paul's (St. Clare) bingo games running smoothly every Tuesday and are continuing to do so in my absence.

May God bless all of you!

With all my love,

Lorraine B. Taylor

Humane Society flea market a bargain hunter's paradise

Special to the Echo
By T. H. (Doc) Toups
The Hancock County Humane Society is now firmly established in its new location at the corner of Hwy. 90 and Drinkwater Street in Bay St. Louis, according to Mrs. Yvonne Hasney.

Mrs. Hasney is the manager of the society's flea market, which operates out of the new site.

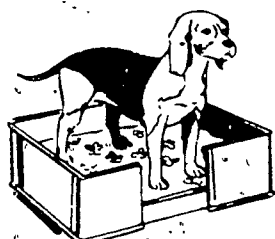

The flea market was formerly located in the Waveland Civic Center, but was forced to move when the city undertook renovations. The society began operations at the new premises in September.

According to Mrs. Hasney, the new location draws more customers than the Civic Center location due to the greater exposure afforded by Hwy. 90. She said the city has offered the return of the old premises when the renovations are complete, and the Humane Society may then undertake the operation of both establishments.

Mrs. Thyla Rogers, society secretary, said city officials have been helpful, but are unable to provide a precise date when operations may resume in the old location. She explained that the Humane Society relies on the flea market for the bulk of its revenue.

The Humane Society and its flea market offers a number of services to the public. The society posts a current listing of animals, available for adoption through the Waveland Animal Shelter and offers certificates valued at $25 towards spaying or neutering pets. These vouchers, given to financially disadvantaged pet owners are honored by affiliated local veterinarians.

The flea market is a bargain hunter's paradise. Wares range from furniture to antiques to household bric-a-brac.

Mrs. Hasney pointed out the society is willing to "wheel and deal" on any sort of substantial purchase. Hours are 10-3 Tuesday, Thursday and Friday and 10-12 on Saturdays. The number is 467-7686, and prospective donors or purchasers are encouraged to call.

parents the chance to decorate them as they wish.

Lizana said this phase of the operation takes many days and everyone at the fire department, as well as his or her family, is pressed into service.

Sometimes, parents make special requests, such as "a soft toy that can be hugged," or "anything sports-related." Lizana said he understands these special needs and complies as much as possible.

As bags are completed, families are called and may go to the station to pick them up. Those who live too far away or who are unable to go have theirs delivered by firefighters or volunteers. "As Christmas draws near, the activity becomes more and more accelerated until at last all packages have been picked up or delivered, and the end of the names has been reached," Lizana remarked.

The work doesn't stop with the delivery of the toys, though. After the first of the year, the activity picks up again with the sending of thank-you notes and the compiling of a financial report to be given to all interested parties.

Lizana stated, "Most feel, after reading the report, that it is remarkable that so many children were able to receive a gift considering the amount of money that was available.

"I gratefully acknowledge the unswerving support of the donors, and I look forward to many years of happy association.

"We at the Bay St. Louis Fire Department get a special feeling of gratification knowing that through our effort and that of all the other people connected with the Hancock County Doll and Toy Fund, many children had a happier Christmas."

mingham would be allowed to work with the football team Gilmore had as many concerns as the men.

"I was apprehensive," she stated. "I knew everyone would be watching us, and we had to fulfill every expectation."

"We had meetings with the administration and the athletic department, and they prepared us for the worst."

"But the guys have been gentlemen from the beginning. Everything has been great."

Alabama has 11 student trainers assigned to work with the various field positions on the team. Gilmore works with inside linebackers.

"There were changes that the guys had to make. They couldn't wander naked anymore and they suddenly had to watch their choice of words."

"The locker rooms and hallway which adjoins it are off limits to us, but we had to have access to the training room to be able to work with the players."

Gilmore said she and Westley are very careful not to get into any situations which could be misinterpreted.

"We don't do any thigh wraps, or help with certain stretches. We call for a male trainer when something needs to be done that might even look questionable."

"Professionalism must be maintained at all times."

Gilmore's preparation for this career includes three premed biology classes along with courses similar to those taken in a physical therapy major.

Each week, she puts in 12 hours of class time and 40 hours of training with the team. "Student trainers are the first to arrive in the morning and the last to leave at night."

"We perform injury evaluation and treatment as well as teach injury prevention."

"It is important that every member of the team knows how to handle a teammate should he go down. Ignorance of proper first aid could increase an injury."

She commented that the state of Alabama is considering a law by which every school will be required to have a certified athletic trainer on the team. She added that in Texas it is already a law.

"For Alabama University, Gilmore explained, the move to allow females as trainers in football marked a break in old attitudes."

Gilmore is the daughter of Gary and Lynn Gilmore of Diamondhead. She is a 1987 graduate of Coast Episcopal High School.

She plans to continue her education by going to graduate school and completing a master's degree in exercise physiology or kinesiology.

For now, Gilmore said she is taking things slowly, for since this is the very first time Alabama has girls on the sidelines it will take some getting used to.

"Most of the guys have accepted us as part of the team," she added.

"For me, I have developed an interest in football I never had before. I find that now I like football best of all the sports we have worked with, and I feel like I have 160 newly found brothers."

Shop at home for Christmas

This is the time of the year when some folks begin to think about doing their Christmas shopping.

When you shop, if you shop at home, you help your friendly merchants, who are always happy to see you.

In many instances you are greeted by your neighbor who may be an employee, and your buying helps them have a place of employment.

The selections are best now and it is really not too early to begin filling those Christmas Wish Lists.

A person can purchase just about anything in our area, and when you shop at home, you also help your local governmental bodies through sales tax revenues.

Remember, it pays in so many ways, when you shop at home.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The annual Hancock County Red Ribbon Christmas parade is scheduled for Saturday, December 7, at 3 p.m.

Efforts are underway to make this the largest and best Christmas parade ever in Hancock County.

Cindy Vernon, chamber executive director, reports her office is now taking registrations for floats, marching groups, walking groups, musical groups and individuals.

Santa will be on hand to greet the youngsters, take those special orders from their Christmas wish list.

We even heard some word about a Singing Santa being scheduled to ride in the parade.

Photos of the children and Santa will also be available.

To enter in the parade, call Cindy or Georgia at 467-9048.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's annual Christmas banquet is also fast approaching.

It is scheduled for Friday, December 6, at the Diamondhead Country Club.

Reservations are now being taken at the chamber for the annual event when the officers and directors for the coming year will be named.

Call Cindy or Georgia at 467-9048.

In high school football, like most sports, the only ones recognized are the victors and this may not always be the case.

A case in point is the fine performance of the Hancock High Hawks, 6-4, going into Friday night playoffs against Stone County with an impressive 9-1 record.

Hancock fell to Stone County 15-7, but one thing is for sure, the Tomcats were aware of the presence of the Hawks on the field.

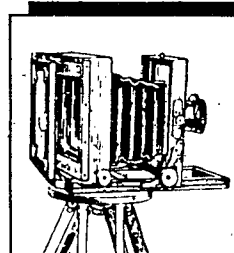

The score could have gone either way and I am very proud of head coach Irvin Favre, his coaching staff and most important, each and every Hancock High football player.

Congratulations on a fine game. You all are winners in the eyes of many.

Ford/Perry battle for House leadership underway

While state history was being made last week in the election of a Republican governor and lieutenant governor, a political struggle of historic proportions was also going on for the speakership of the next Mississippi House of Representatives.

Never before this year was a wide open race for House speaker between two factions taken place in every local race for House seats throughout the state, beginning with the Sept. 17 primary, right on through the Nov. 5 general election.

The speakership battle, as most Mississippians know, is between the forces backing Tim Ford of Tupelo for re-election to the slot, and a group of House insurgents who support Ed Perry, of Oxford, the stumpy veteran of 24 years in the House.

Significantly, the Perry forces largely include progressive lawmakers who led a reform movement four ago that ousted longtime Speaker Buddie Newman and brought Ford to power. But the reformers contend that Ford abandoned them and allied himself with forces who opposed democratization of House rules and procedures.

Two days after the results were in from the final 44 House seats decided in the Nov. 5 general election, Ford and his backers gleefully released a list of 65 members-elect, three more than a majority of the 122-member House, they said were committed to Ford's re-election when the Legislature convenes next Jan. 7.

Meantime, the Perry camp released their list of 53 House members-elect they said were publicly committed to backing Perry for speaker, and immediately charged that the Ford claims of already having a majority were "meaningless."

Ford confidently declared "the race for speaker is over, we have the votes." In a formal statement he said his platform had been to "heal and unify the House and it has been a successful platform."

He said he was holding out the olive branch for other House members to join his forces in a move toward "unification." It quickly became evident that the Ford leaders were setting out to chip away at Perry backers with an implied warning that they'd better get on board before the train pulls out.

Although they were not radiating the same confidence as Ford, the Perry forces stuck to their battle plans with a vow that the race for speaker would go to a vote on the House floor on Jan. 7 and every member would have to publicly announce his or her choice. Rarely in the past has the speakership gone to a vote without an opposing candidate withdrawing, leaving only one name to be considered.

Rather than unifying the House, Perry charged, Ford has proved his inability to bring about a working relationship in the House. This divisiveness, Perry said, has caused the debates on legislative redistricting, and budget crisis and an education program.

Ford had made a strategic move two weeks before by announcing that he was endorsing Rep. Robert Clark of Ebenezer, the longest-serving black member of the House, as his choice for speaker pro tempore and that the two would run as a ticket.

By playing the Clark card, Ford was able to lure eight other members of the House Black Caucus over to his side, but Perry still had half of the 23 black members solidly in his camp.

Over the weekend the Perry forces took aim at pulling over at least four or five of the blacks aligned with Ford whose support for Ford is considered "soft." At the state convention of the NAACP in Clarksdale, Rep. Aaron Henry, state president of the black organization, who is a Perry supporter, sponsored a resolution denouncing Ford for his role in defeating a House redistricting plan pushed by the black membership.

There was strong speculation that Ford, who has been developing close ties to Republican Sen. Trent Lott and other GOP leaders, will switch to the Republican Party if he is elected speaker in January.

This would give the Republicans a solid hierarchy at the top of state government with Kirk Fordice as governor and Eddie Briggs as lieutenant governor. Should Ford make the party switch, it is likely that he would take some other Democrats in the House with him.

Could this be the party realignment that has been predicted ever since Ronald Reagan won Mississippi in a landslide in 1984? Both state and national Democratic party leaders were more than a little concerned about the danger that Mississippi could tip over to the GOP as South Carolina did a few years ago.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi Economic Council

M/EIC

Balance economy and environment

Another bizarre chapter in the continuing struggle to define the proper relationship between the man's economy and his environment is being played out in the jungles of Central America.

Almost every week rebel troops in Columbia are using a burro's load or so of dynamite to blow a hole in one of the nation's main oil pipelines.

So far, 35 million gallons of crude have been spilled into the rivers and jungles, more than three times the amount of the Exxon Valdez disaster in Alaska.

One would imagine that protests from natives of the region would be rapid and that rebel troops would be vilified, but it hasn't quite turned out that way.

The spills are taking place in one of the poorest parts of Columbia where thousands of villagers live in poverty. Hundreds of people from steamy little towns along Columbia's rivers earn $300 a day to help clean up the oil—more than ten times their normal monthly incomes.

The rebels in some areas are actually gaining support as the workers, many for the first time, enjoy the benefits of having enough money for food, clothing and shelter.

Some workers may even have tried a little sabotage themselves in an attempt to provide steady work for their families.

But, this temporary prosperity comes at a terrible price. The oil has killed thousands of mammals and birds and devastated the environment of a region where most people depend on the land and rivers for survival. Some natives are already abandoning their homes.

A valuable lesson is being learned in the jungles of Central America—one we should have learned by now but often choose to ignore. There must be a balance between the economy and the environment.

While short-term goals may be met, and early profits reaped, no industry can remain healthy for long if environmental concerns are not addressed. In addition, voluntary compliance with federal and state environmental regulations can save a company millions in legal fees and cleanup costs.

It is an easy problem to ignore. But, for those who want to destroy the environment, in Mississippi as in Columbia, the piper will eventually have to be paid.

Mockingbirds: enchanting, comical, maddening flyers

BY LYDIA D. SCHULTZ
I'd made up my mind over a month ago to do this column about this bird when, lo—an article appeared about our neighborhood friend and the Mississippi State Bird, the Northern Mockingbird. It let me know that I'm not the only one taken with it.

They have always fascinated me! It is one of the birds that always causes me to pause in appreciation when it starts its singing. And sometimes when it starts, it doesn't stop.

I've awakened at midnight to hear it going through its medley of songs. (Those are generally "unattached" males in the Spring.)

Medley it is. For some of its songs are original, some borrowed. Often I can identify who it is mimicking. Wrens, Rufous-sided Towhees, Cardinals, Purple Martins and Flycatchers are some of the ones they like to copy-cat.

One very memorable day I was bike riding near our house. We've had a Chuck-will's-widow in our neighborhood each summer doing its Whip-poor-will-like song all night.

I guess the Mockingbird couldn't resist it any longer and was doing a mighty poor rendition of that Chuck-will's widow! I had to stop the bike to laugh. Yeah. It was that bad, folks. I've read accounts of Mockers actually imitating the sounds of lunch bells so well that they called farm hands in for lunch... way too early.

They've been said to imitate barks, meows, squeaks of a rusty gate, frogs, and sirens. They fool hunters with game bird calls and dogs with their master's whistle.

This bird is so adaptive. It thrives in urban areas. It can be enchanting, comical, maddening and territorial.

The Northern Mockingbird is in the family Mimidae, which in our area includes the Gray Catbird and the Brown Thrasher. In fact, the only way to tell the Thrasher's song from the Mockers is that the Mockingbird repeats each different song many times more than the Thrasher. Also, the Thrasher is much more reserved; not quite so flamboyant.

The Northern Mockingbird has a large range through the United States. It is expanding North and West, but the bird is still considered as southern as a magnolia and our Spanish moss.

This lovely gray streaker with large white wing patches and white outer tail feathers can be lured to feeders that are well stocked with fruits such as bananas, oranges and apples.

They also love suet or peanut butter mixed with cornmeal. The easiest way is to plant some of our native berry-bearing bushes such as Beautyberry, Hawthorn Berry, Hackberry, Elderberry, etc.

You get the drift. I always say, "Show me a pyracantha (though it's not native) and I'll show you a Mockingbird." They also eat insects.

They'll flutter into the air to catch an insect, landing sleekly atop a bare branch. Or they'll fly across the yard, singing the whole distance.

Once in a while an over-zealous Mocker will get so caught up in defending his approximate one acre of territory that he won't tolerate any other species.

I've seen one take on 50 Cedar Waxwings or one Gray Catbird. I saved one poor Catbird who had the audacity to enter my Mockingbird's yard three times in one week! My intervention was merely to pick up the Catbird, allow him to recover, and put it across the street out of harm's (the Mockingbird's) way. No judgement, please, against the Mockingbird! He's just doing his thing. Nature, you know, is not open to man's way of thinking or interpretation.

There's so much more to say about this one bird. You can see why it is the state bird for five different states; why two Presidents wrote excitedly and poetically about it; why there's one small book devoted to it; why I always stop to enjoy it.

Mockingbirds make me smile.

Feeder activity should start picking up toward the end of this month. Sparrows have moved into the area so you can look for the White-throated Sparrows, Chipping Sparrows, and a possible Song Sparrows. Of course, the American Goldfinch should be making an appearance soon also.

It all depends on weather conditions and food sources to the north of us as to what will occur here. It varies from year to year. Good birding.

REPLACING TOOTHBRUSHES
Q. How often should one replace a toothbrush?
A. Ordinarily about once a month, to reduce the risk of infections. Bacteria that can build up on a toothbrush are suspected as causes of recurring colds, mouth sores and gum infections.
The toothbrush you currently use should be thoroughly rinsed after each brushing to rid it of any particles removed from the teeth. Other toothbrush safeguards:
• If you have been diagnosed as having gum disease -- gingivitis or periodontal disease -- change brushes at least every two weeks.
• At the onset of any respiratory infection, change brushes. When the infection leaves, it's time to say goodbye to the interim brush.

Stone Tomcats shred Hawks' playoff hopes

BY TRACI BONNEY

Hancock High's path to Magee and the 4-A state football quarterfinals hit a roadblock in Stone County Friday night, but not with any cooperation from the Hawks.

The Hawks played hard and fast against the Stone County Tomcats at A.L. May Stadium, but costly errors left the final score at 15-7 in the Tomcats' favor.

Hancock coach Irvin Favre assessed the game by saying that the Hawks' failure to execute a couple of key plays hurt their game. He mentioned in particular the fourth quarter incomplete TD pass attempt.

He said of the Tomcats, "They're so fast, you know, they cover on you so well that if you don't do some of that stuff you've got problems."

"But we played well tonight, I'll tell you what. You couldn't ask for anything better. I imagine a lot of people didn't think it was going to be this close, but our kids played hard."

"We had a good game playing against them and we just came up on the short end."

The game started with the Hawks in possession of the ball. The Hawks held and quickly forced a punt. Driving down the field, Hancock brought the ball inside the 10.

With first and goal to go, another Hawk drive pushed to the 5. The next play, a Bobby Doyle run, took the ball over the line, and with a good PAT the score was 7-0 with 6:03 left in the first quarter.

The Tomcats were unable to move the ball after receiving the return kick. They turned the ball back over to the Hawks, who were equally unsuccessful at driving downfield and turned the ball over on downs.

The first quarter ended with the ball in Tomcat hands. Despite a frustrating inability to up the score, the Hawks' sideline morale was high.

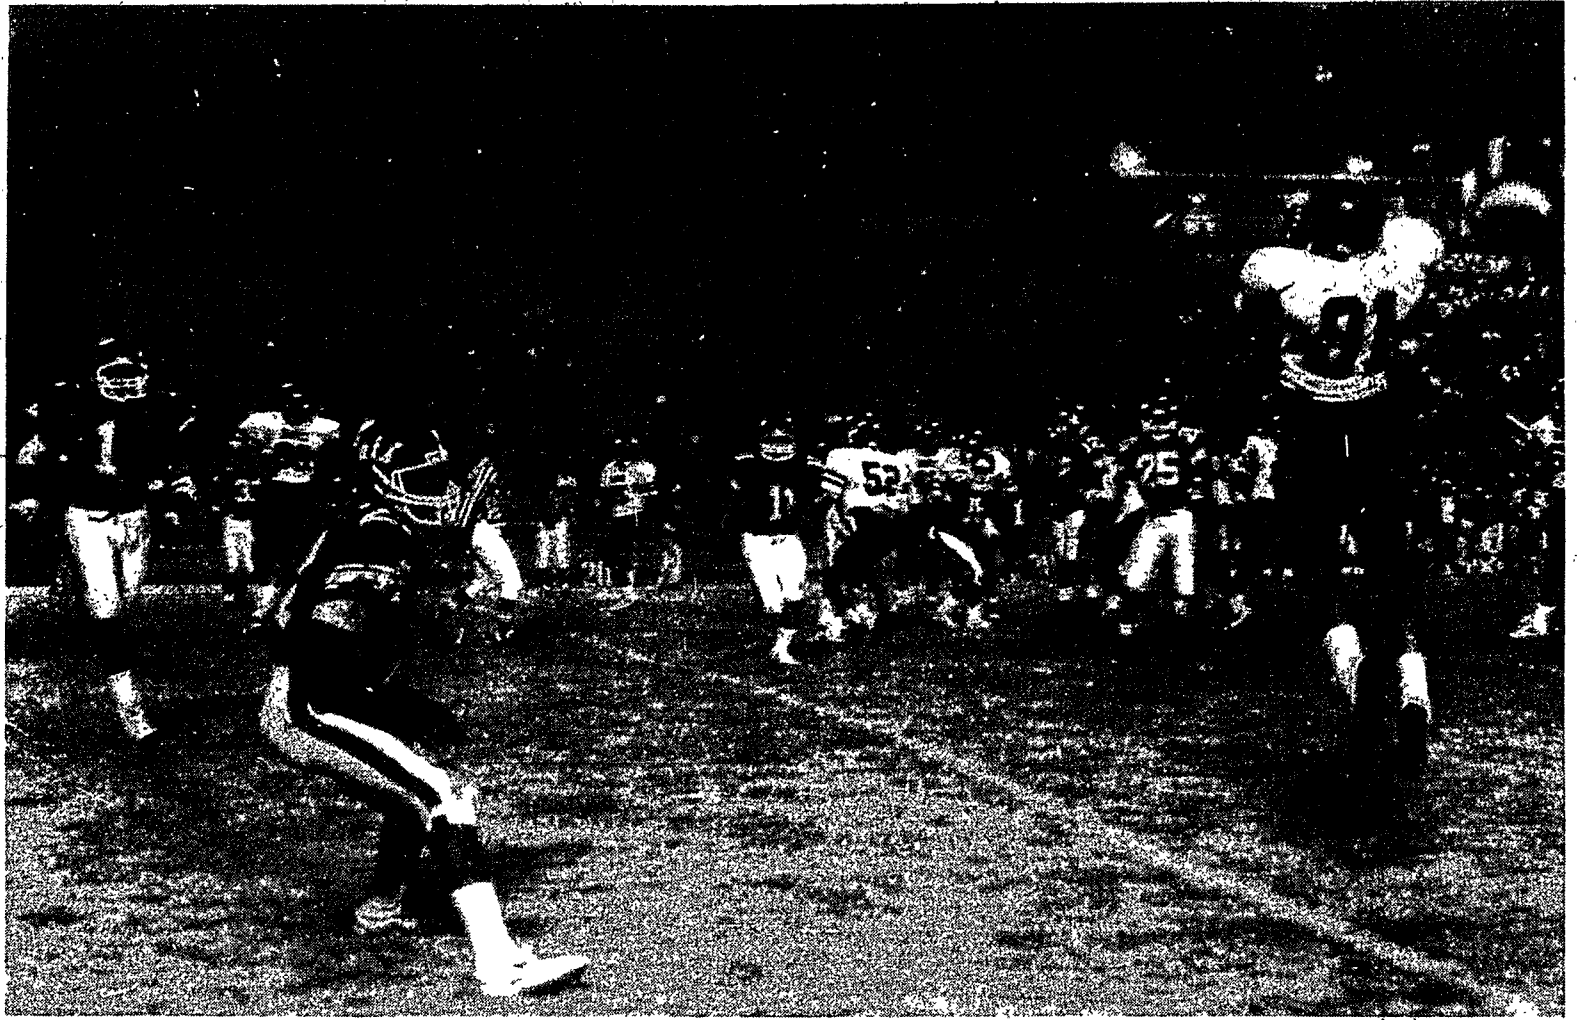

In the second quarter, neither team had much success in moving the ball. Both defenses held steady and thwarted any scoring attempts.

The two teams inched back and forth over the field for most of the second quarter without making any real gains. Near the end of the first half, the Tomcats took possession of the ball on a punt and tried to move it by passing.

The first pass attempt was incomplete. The second attempt was picked out of the air by an alert Hawk.

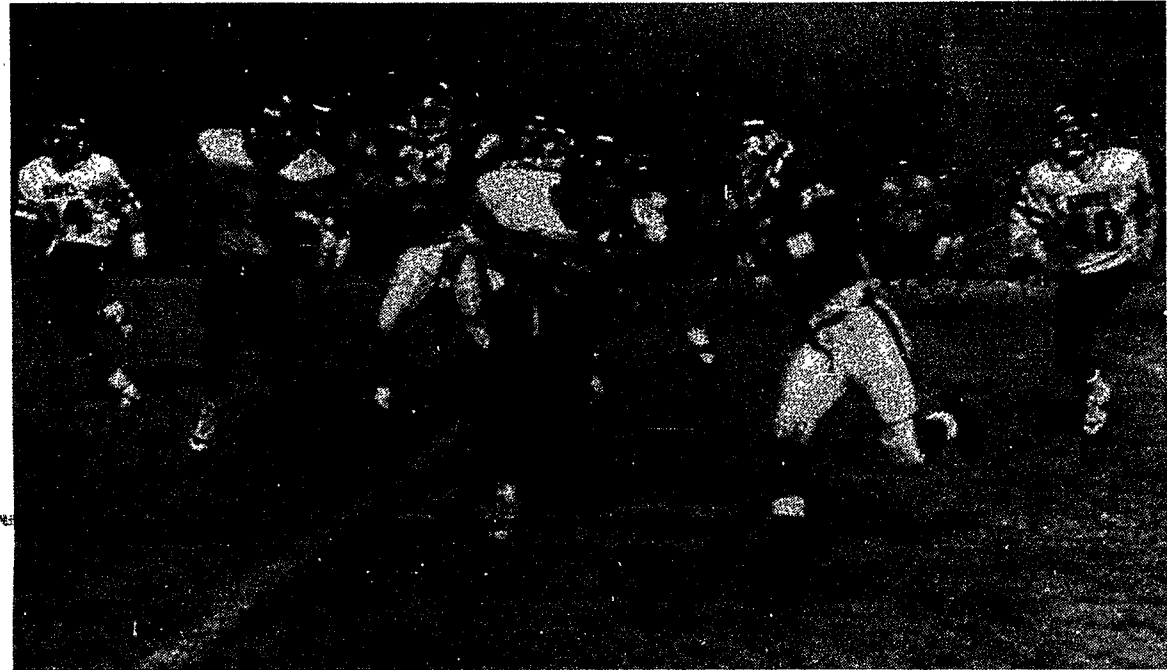

The half ended with the ball in Hancock's grasp. From remarks made on the sidelines, the Hawks apparently were pleased with their first-half performance as they left the field.

After halftime shows from a much-improved Hancock High band and the superior-rated Stone County High band, the second half opened with a kick

So close

Backfield action halts as Hawks and Tomcats alike watch to see if Hawk Dennis Devilbiss (#81) will catch a Jeff Favre pass during Friday night's 15-7 Tomcat win. The ball sailed through Devilbiss's upstretched arms and landed out of bounds. (Echo staff photo by Traci Bonney)

Turning point

Hawk defenders move in to stop Tomcat Armond Breland after he recovers a Hancock fumble Friday night. (Echo staff photo by Traci Bonney) to the Hawks.

Radley Ladner caught the kick and took the ball out to the 24. The next play, a pass from QB Jeff Favre to Ladner, moved the ball to the 35.

After two stymied attempts to gain yards, a pass from Favre to Doyle took the ball to the 48. A 1-yard loss and a 4-yard gain moved the ball past midfield, but a fumble put the ball into the Tomcats' hands for their first touchdown.

Cat Armond Breland grabbed the loose ball at the 40 and took it across the goal line. Artie Moore added a 2-point conversion to make the score 8-7 with 8:09 in the third quarter.

On the kick, Jeron "Kid" Vince took the ball to the 28. The next two plays resulted in a loss of yardage and an incomplete pass.

At third and 11, Favre passed to Dennis Malley, who took the ball to the 43 for a first down.

The Hawks were pumped after their third-and-long conversion. Another play took the ball to the 47, then Favre lost his footing and slipped on the next play, losing about 15 yards.

With 20 yards to go for a first down, the Hawks' fans watched for another third down conversion, but a pass intercepted by Tomcat Sheldon Nelson at the 49 shattered Hancock's hopes to move the ball.

Taking the ball to the 8-yard line, then the 6-yard line, the Hawks scored again with a run by Moore. The PAT upped the score to 15-7 with 3:57 on the third quarter clock.

The Hawks kept the ball for the rest of the quarter, but still were unable to break through the Tomcats' solid defense. The ball was turned over on downs early in the fourth quarter, after Doyle caught a Favre pass but was stopped at the goal line.

The Tomcats kept the ball briefly, then turned it over on a punt. The Hawks kept their talons dug into the ball, and nearly scored four plays into the possession. However, Favre's pass attempt into the endzone was incomplete.

Five plays later, the Hawks turned the ball over on downs, but quickly recovered it on a Tomcat fumble.

The game was nearly over, and the Hawks' last attempt to move the ball failed. As the clock ran out, the two teams lined up to shake hands across the field.

Ducks Unlimited dedicates Walker Tract waterfowl refuge

Ducks Unlimited, the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service hosted dedication ceremonies recently for the Walker Conservation Foundation Tract located in Tallahatchie County near Charleston.

The 560-acre Walker Tract was acquired by DU in 1989 through funds donated by the W. E. Walker Conservation Foundation of Jackson and the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation. The dedication ceremony celebrated the transfer of the property to the USFWS as part of the Tallahatchie River National Wildlife Refuge. The USFWS will manage and maintain the area as a moist soil waterfowl area.

The Walker Conservation Foundation contributed $350,000 to the Ducks Unlimited Foundation for the purchase of the land. A contribution of $250,000 in matching funds will be provided by the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation.

The matching funds provided for habitat enhancement, including the refurbishing of an existing dam, construction of additional water control devices to permit year-round stabilization of water levels on the site, and upgrading of existing wells.

"Ducks Unlimited is proud to be able to return this enhanced wetland habitat to the public trust," said Matt Connolly, Ducks Unlimited executive vice president. "DU is committed to the goals of North American Waterfowl Management Plan which requires a consolidated effort between private, state and federal partners to preserve wetlands and rebuild the waterfowl population throughout this continent."

The Walker Tract site consists of three large moist soil wetland "cells." The water level in the cells is regulated by a series of levees and water control structures.

A wide variety of natural food-source vegetation will be encouraged in the area to provide an abundant supply of nutrition for the waterfowl.

By pumping water into the cells during the early fall, the Walker Tract will provide an important feeding and resting area for migrating waterfowl such as mallards, green-winged teal, pintails, wood ducks and other wildlife species during the most critical period of the year.

DU has more than 9,500 active members in Mississippi. With more than 500,000 members nationally, Ducks Unlimited is the world's largest private sector waterfowl and wetlands conservation organization.

Since its inception in 1937, DU has raised more than $640 million to conserve 5.4 million acres of habitat throughout North America. (Some 600 wildlife species now look to DU-enhanced acreage for their habitat needs.)

The Walker Conservation Foundation Trust was established by W. E. Walker in 1984. The trust was created for scientific, educational and research purposes relating to wildlife and natural resources preservation and conservation.

For more information concerning Ducks Unlimited call DU's Southern Regional Office in Jackson, 956-1936.

Mullet Bowl excitement lures crowd to Bay High

BY TRACI BONNEY

Bay High and Boyet came out on top in the first year of the revitalized Mullet Bowl classic double-header Thursday night. In the 7th/8th grade game, Boyet of Slidell mopped up the field with D'Iberville in a 36-0 scorcher.

Boyet's scoring was "all in the family," the Porter family.

Kevin Porter scored four of his team's five touchdowns. He ran the opening kick back 72 yards for the night's first score, then put more points on the board with TD runs of 55, 23 and 32 yards.

He capped his sterling performance by adding three 2-point conversions.

Boyet's other TD came on a 7-yard run by Kevin's brother Keith Porter.

Most Valuable Players for the 7th/8th grade game were: D'Iberville — Bao Nguyen (offense) and Carlos Smallman (defense); Boyet — Kevin Porter (offense) and Chris Brindell (defense). The MVPs received trophies as recognition for their efforts.

Boyet stands at 10-0 as chalks up its second year as an undefeated team. Boyet's athletic director is Billy Thomas, head football coach Bart Carr and assistant football coach Tommy Barnett, all from Bay St. Louis.

D'Iberville was undefeated going into the Mullet Bowl, and now stands at 9-1. Larry Newman is head coach.

Between the two games, the Mullet Bowl Queen was crowned. This year's queen is Corinn Thomas, daughter of Mrs. Joan Thomas. Corinn is an eighth grader at Bay High School.

In the 9th grade game, host team Bay High School showed Picayune the door with a score of 22-8.

Tiger Exavier Lewis scored on 33-yard and 13-yard runs, and added one 2-point conversion. Teammate LeRoy Hawkins upped the score on a 12-yard run, and Raleigh Murphy added the 2-point conversion.

Picayune's sole score was on a 52-yard pass to Donnell Wesley from Owen Fleming. The 2-point attempt was good on a pass from Fleming to Joe Decuir.

MVPs for the second game were: Picayune — Donnell Wesley (offense) and Patrick Wilks (defense); Bay High — Exavier Lewis (offense) and Brad Laneaux (defense). They also received trophies.

Picayune's final record is 5-3. Kent Kirkland is head coach.

Bay High ends its season at 7-2. The coaching staff includes Rocky Gaudin, Joe Shaw, Walt Eslinger and Stace McRaney.

Gaudin commented, "The games went real well. Boyet particularly brought a lot of people over."

"We had a good crowd and made some money, with the proceeds going to the Bay High School Athletic Club."

"We're real pleased with the Mullet Bowl. It's going to be continued now perpetually, like it should have been."

Coast Episcopal High School opens basketball season at 2-1

Special to the Echo
The Coast Episcopal High School Raiders varsity basketball team is three games into the 1991-92 basketball season. Under the direction of new varsity coach Keith McQueen, the team has a 2-1 record in the first week of play.

In the opening game, the Raiders traveled to Bogalusa, La. and lost to Bens Ford Christian School 58-56. In the other two games, the Raiders defeated 2A opponent Bowling Green in Franklinton, La. 64-61 in overtime, and avenged their first loss by defeating Bens Ford at home Monday night 62-51.

The Raiders ended their 1990-91 campaign with a 23-17 record. Coach McQueen believes the Raiders can better that record, but admits it will be hard.

"We lost four starters and their combined 64 points per game either to graduation or failure to meet academic requirements," said McQueen.

"Our returning players have had time on the court, but not in key scoring roles," he said.

"These problems, combined with the fact that this year's schedule is by far the toughest in the history of the school has really put our kids and the program to the test," said McQueen.

This year Coast Episcopal will play three games against 2A opponents and four games with 3A opponents. By upgrading the level of competition, McQueen hopes to improve the level of the Raiders' play when they meet their district opponents in the Mississippi Private School Association South 1A District.

In looking over the last three games, McQueen said he gave credit to the kids in stepping up to meet the challenge.

"We thought Bens Ford would be close to our size. We have only one player over 6 feet," he said. "Instead they went 6'5", 6'4", and had a couple of 6'2"s, and all of them played good ball."

McQueen thought that opening night jitters and the shock of seeing their size, played a large part in the Raiders' two-point loss.

In the game against 2A Bowling Green, the Raiders fell down by 12 points in the first half. CEHS bounced back in the second half to hold Bowling Green to only 12 points in the last 11 minutes of the game, including only one point in overtime.

"Winning in overtime against a school of that size, 6'5", 6'4", and a pair of 6'2" players was a real confidence builder," said McQueen.

"We outrebounded them 33 to 26, and I think that shows a lot about our heart and desire, considering their size," he said.

During Monday night's game against Bens Ford, McQueen said he thought that the Raiders did not play up to their potential, but did play extremely well in spurts.

"Bens Ford will probably dominate their conference in Louisiana and have already beaten two of our district opponents Pine Hills and Rankin Academy," McQueen said. The Raiders defeated the Eagles in

VA to offer toll-free help for veterans exposed to radiation

The Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) has inaugurated a special national toll-free telephone help-line for veterans who were exposed to radiation during military service.

Current information on VA benefits and services, medical research related to radiation exposure and legislation, as well as assistance in filing or opening disability compensation claims related to radiation exposure will be offered.

The 24-hour, toll-free number—1-800-827-0365—is available to veterans and family members weekdays from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Eastern time, and is staffed by counselors at the VA Regional Office and Insurance Center in Philadelphia, Pa.

After-hours and weekend callers may leave a recorded message, which will be returned the following business day.

More than 200,000 veterans were potentially exposed to radiation as a result of atomic weapons testing between 1945 and 1962, as prisoners of war in Japan during World War II, or as members of occupation forces in Hiroshima and Nagasaki after World War II. Exposure also could have resulted from a variety of military occupations or from X-ray therapy.

This new information help-line supplements statewide toll-free service for information on VA benefits and programs at all VA regional offices.

The Philadelphia Regional Office and Insurance Center also maintains a national toll-free number for information about government insurance policies. That number is 1-800-669-8477.

HMC Ladies Auxiliary honors volunteers' service

The Hancock Medical Center Ladies' Auxiliary recognized several of its volunteers for their service recently.

The ceremony, part of the HMC Auxiliary's annual awards luncheon at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club, honored those volunteers who have served 100 hours or more.

Recognized were: 100 hours — Betty Peters; 300 hours — Shirley Clements, Evelyn Perri, Dot Zimmerman, Goldie Bevens; 500 hours — Millie Brodman, Bernice Gruber, Pat Lanham, Bea Lorenzen, Beverly Mohi, Gerti Hatten; 700 hours — Dorothy Bielstein, Dottie Corales, Shirley Padgett; 1,000 hours — Genevieve Cole, Betty Kietly, Billie Tudury; 1,250 hours — Edna Kleinpeter, Phil Lagasse; 1,750 hours — Theresa Bourgeois.

The honorees received pins commemorating their service. Auxiliary member Mary Benjamin also received a pin for her service for 25 years.

HMC Auxiliary volunteers have served more than 27,000 hours in the last five years, and more than 5,755 in the last year. In October of this year, the volunteers served 504 hours.

There are 46 active members and seven associate members in the auxiliary at this time.

Hospital donation

SBA workshop for entrepreneurs

Those interested in becoming entrepreneurs in south Mississippi will have an opportunity to overview the factors involved in starting a small business at the "Thinking About Going into Business?" workshop. The November session will be at the Long Beach Council Chamber office on Hwy. 90 Wednesday, Nov. 20 from 6:30-9 p.m.

Registration is $10. The fee covers the cost of printing the materials. Interested persons should call the SBDC at 865-4578 to reserve their place and materials for the program.

SHOPPING UP A STORM

By Katy
McGuire Caire

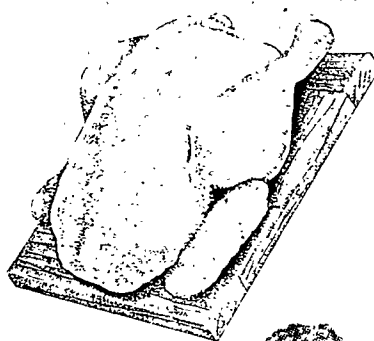

An "always-prepared" friend of mine has already bought her Thanksgiving turkey—a "biggie" of a bird, and stashed it in her freezer, along with a couple of pumpkin pies and other assorted dishes of the feast.

If you're like me and most of the others I know, you haven't done so—no problem; our supermarkets are crammed with turkeys, small to huge, smoked or not as you choose, as well as turkey breasts and ducklings. And, for those who don't care for the traditional turkey feast, there are good buys in pork roasts (whole Boston Butt pork roasts, especially) as well as in beef roasts and ham shank portions.

Sweet potatoes are in good supply; and Russet potatoes are a super-bargain these days. Onions are a good buy, as they usually are; and cabbage, winter squash and such are in plentiful supply.

Beef chuck roasts and boneless beef bottom rounds are good buys as well; and there are specials on baking hens, on bacon and pork sausage, links or bulk as you choose.

I bought a hen yesterday; and a rich chicken and oyster gumbo is cooking itself to a turn as I write this; I can scarcely wait until it's ready for the table. This gumbo, of course, may be made with a fryer instead of a hen; but this is an old recipe, a way to make use of the then-tough old hens! Here's:

CHICKEN AND OYSTER GUMBO

- 1 medium hen, cut as for frying
- 1 cup oil
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 2 medium onions, finely chopped
- 3 garlic cloves, chopped fine
- 2 quarts warm water

- 2 dozen oysters
- Salt, pepper, cayenne to your taste
- 1/2 cup chopped parsley
- 1/2 cup green onion tops, chopped fine
- File powder, optional

Heat the oil in a heavy pot. Add the flour, and blend until it's smooth and flour browns (in other words, make a roux.) Stir constantly, lest it scorch, remember. Add the garlic and onions.

In another pot, fry the seasoned chicken until light brown, and add it to the blend of oil, flour, etc., with 2 quarts of warm water. Cook over a simmer flame (simmer) for 2 hours, or until the chicken is tender.

Just before serving, add the oysters with their liquor. When the oysters begin to curl at the edges, add the parsley and onion tops. Serve over rice in a soup bowl, adding 1/4 tsp. of file to each serving, if you wish. (When file is used in a recipe, it is never cooked, but added when the dish is served, if file is desired.)

(Variation on the theme: In place of the chicken, use a half-dozen large cleaned crabs and 2 pounds of deveined raw shrimp. Simmer for a half hour before adding oysters and continuing with the recipe.)

Coast Episcopal serves its 43rd Harvest Dinner Thursday

Coast Episcopal Church will dish out its 43rd Annual Harvest Dinner this Thursday from 6 to 8 p.m.

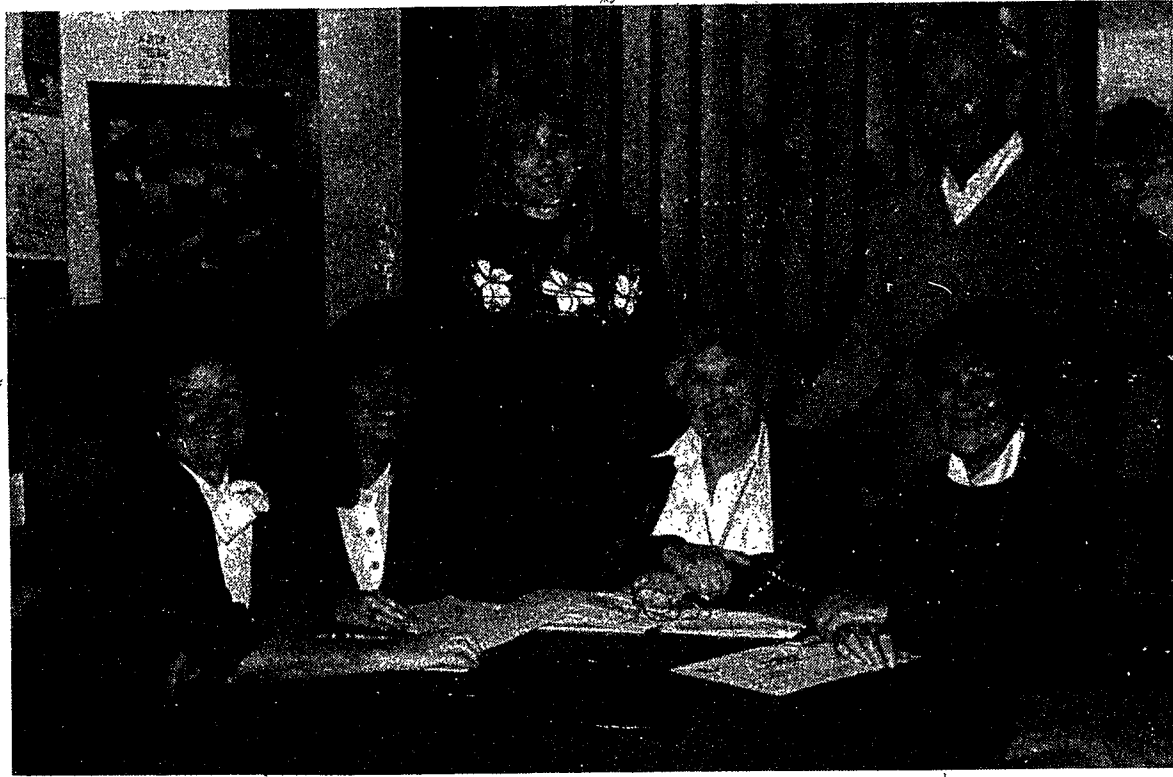

The Episcopal Church Women are busy this week preparing a dinner of baked turkey, cornbread, dressing and gravy, fluffy sweet potato casserole, spinach Florentine, cranberry relish, hot rolls, cake and drinks for $6.

If you can't come and enjoy the company, then order ahead of time and take a plate home. Pick-up for take-outs is 5 to 6 p.m. No tickets will be sold at the door.

This event is the largest fund raiser of the year for the Coast Episcopal "Outreach Program." Last year, it was reported over 600 dinners were served.

To purchase a dinner ticket call Gwen Hogan, 467-7606, the church office, 467-7757, or Peggy Cordes, 452-4624.

John Yates, whose unique style of evangelism has been featured southwide, will be the revivalist speaker at a series of meetings opening today at Clermont Harbor United Methodist Church.

Participating in the meetings will be members of Pearlington United Methodist Church. Dr. William Jenkins Jr. is pastor of both churches.

First of the series will be at 11 a.m. Sunday. The second will be at 7 p.m. after a covered-dish dinner at 6:15. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday gatherings will be at 7 p.m.

Yates, a graduate of Delta State University, holds a degree in trumpet performance. He is also a guitarist.

A full-time musical evangelist, Mr. Yates employs three puppets—JJ, Sparky, and The Prof—in the ventriloquism feature of his services.

In preparation for the revival, Clermont Harbor and Pearlington churches have held cottage prayer meetings.

St. Matthew pastor celebrates anniversaries

On Saturday, Oct. 19 the parishioners of St. Matthew the Apostle Parish (White Cypress) joined Father Ivan Weiss in celebrating his 40th anniversary of religious profession and his 11th anniversary of priesthood.

The celebration began with a concelebrated Mass. Concelebrants were the Most Reverend Joseph Lawson Howze, Bishop of Biloxi; the Rev. Monsignor Francis Farrell and the Rev. Monsignor Joseph Mercier, the Reverend Kenneth Fleck, the Reverend George Kitchen, and the Reverend George Clements. The homilist for the occasion was Father Clements.

Joining the choir for special songs was Father Jerome Ledoux.

Among the out-of-town guests were Father Ivan's brother, Oliver Weiss from Virginia Beach, Va. and his sister, Mrs. George Reynolds, from Milton, Fla.

Other out-of-town guests from San Antonio, Chicago,

Nassau and Hattiesburg as well as some from Moss Point, Pascagoula, Ocean Springs, Waveland, Bay St. Louis were present at the celebration.

Following the Mass, an outdoor covered dish dinner was enjoyed by all.

Father Ivan was professed as a Franciscan Brother on Feb. 14, 1951. After numerous assignments in the Chicago area, he began studies for the priesthood and was ordained for the Diocese of Biloxi on Aug. 30, 1980.

He became pastor of St. Matthew Parish February 1989. Prior to that he served in a number of parishes in the Biloxi Diocese.

OLA names TIP students

Eight seventh grade students from Our Lady Academy have qualified and applied for participation in this year's Talent Search for mathematically and verbally advanced students, sponsored by Duke University's Talented Identification Program (TIP).

The 1991 applicants for the Talent Search are Elizabeth Byrne, Meredith (Ana) Caboni, Victoria McDonald, Annette Morel, Pepper

Pearson, Kathryn Scaife, Sarah Taylor and Jennifer Warnke.

The TIP program identifies highly able seventy-graders from a 16-state region in the South, Southwest and Midwest. To be eligible, students must have scored at the 97th percentile or better on an in-school achievement or ability measure.

They will sit for the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) or ACT Assessment (ACT), normally taken only by college-bound juniors and seniors in December, January or February. Many of these students score as well as or better than the average college-bound senior on these measures.

All participants receive certificates of merit and some become eligible for statewide recognition ceremonies or a variety of educational programs.

Tip students

Diamondhead Mardi Gras season begins with Alii special event

Special to the Echo
The Alii of the Krewe of Kamehameha held its annual dinner dance Nov. 9 at the Diamondhead Country Club.

Their Majesties were attired in dress de Rigueur with medallions. The reading of the royal proclamations were followed by toasts with champagne and strawberries.

The regal reception, presided over by the Rex/Regina-in-charge (RICS) R. B. Boatright King Akua Kai XVI and Queen Nina Cotton, was held in Palace Chambers (Aloha Room) after which the royal entourage proceeded en masse to the royal banquet table in the Coral Room for dining and dancing.

Alii (a Hawaiian word meaning royalty) was inaugurated in 1988). The members are current and past kings and queens of the Krewe of Kamehameha. The RICS are the immediate past king and queen. The current keeper of the royal slush fund is queen Jean Keen.

In addition to its two princpal events each year, the Alii has the following objectives: preserve the history and traditions of the krewe; provide support and guidance to the king and queen-elect; and provide counsel and advice to the commodore of the Boating Association Inc. if requested.

The gold Alii medallions are inscribed with their majesties' names and year of reign, and are appropriately worn to all Mardi Gras functions. The new king and queen are inducted as Alii at their coronation.

Present members of Alii include:

Kings: Tom McMurtry, Ed Snow, Harrie Devine, J. C. Koenenn, Tom Ballard, Lou Cotton, Sam Daquanno, Bud Freeman, Bob Calvey, Johnny Bargar, Bob Barber, Curtis Stout, R. B. Boatright and Harvey Comfort.

Queens: Blanche Devine, Bonnie Deters, Millie Rubin, Nell Koenenn, Ida Mae Snow, Gloria Barber, Pat Stafford, Bernice J. Turner, Mary Lou

Freeman, Jean Keen, Billie ry, Gladys McCook, Nina Cotton and Nell Dennis.

Hancock Women's Club

The Hancock Women's Club met at the Waveland Library Thursday, Nov. 14 with Lois Cripple presiding.

Isabelle Crais has been accepted as a new member. Two other vacancies will be filled within the next few days, bringing the club back to its full membership of 45.

The membership voted to donate $100 to the American Cancer Society for use in Hancock County. Members also voted an expenditure of funds to hold a Christmas party for underprivileged children, details of which are not yet available.

Catherine Hamilton, Marion Quinlan and Marion Kilbride are all on the sick list. Georgia Williams, Shirley Tingstrom and Rosemary Malandra have volunteered to assist as necessary in their club duties during their absences. Meanwhile, they are all wished speedy recoveries.

The scheduled speaker, Bill Stacey from the Sheriff's Boys and Girls ranches, was unable to attend the meeting, but has promised to come to a future meeting to explain details of their operations. The club has donated to that organization on several occasions.

The door prize was won by Nathalie Miller.

The club recently held a covered dish supper at the home of Lorraine Townsend, with husbands and friends in attendance. As a fund raiser, the club raffled a card table, with four chairs, which was won by Robbie Taconi.

Next month's meeting and Christmas party will be at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club Thursday, Dec. 12. Board meeting will be at the Bay St. Louis Library Monday, Dec. 2.

Friendship Oak Chapter National Society Daughters of the American Revolution

The Saturday luncheon meeting of Friendship Oak Chapter was hosted by Mrs. Tims A. Quinn and Mrs. Sidney H. Ruskin at the Holiday Inn, Beachfront, Gulfport.

Several members of Gulf Coast Chapter attended to hear the guest speaker, Margaret DeMerville, MS DAR state regent.

DeMerville's topic was the Bill of Rights. There were many humorous tidbits woven into the fabric of the talk.

The state regent stressed the importance of the ringing of the bells across America Dec. 15 at noon to mark the ratification of the Bill of Rights' 200th anniversary, 1791-1991.

When the Bill of Rights Tour was at the Biloxi Coliseum in October, Mrs. Robert C. Willem, Mrs. Hazel Erhart and Mrs. James R. Thomas of this chapter served as tour guides.

Mrs. James R. Thomas was endorsed by the chapter to be state recording secretary on the proposed slate of officers of Mrs. O. E. Bradway III who is running for the office of state regent in February 1992.

FEAR ALMOST COST ME EVERYTHING I LOVE!

Like most people my age, I knew all the warning signs of cancer, but fear kept me from going in for a checkup. I was more afraid of knowing the truth than I was of cancer itself.

Now, I feel so foolish. My procrastination and fear almost cost me my life and everything I love. But I was lucky.

My doctor at Shidell Memorial Hospital, once I did go in, carefully explained that early detection and prompt treatment offer the best hope for a full recovery. Cancer, if ignored and untreated, will continue to invade and destroy healthy tissue, increasing your risk and the possibility of complications.

The Cancer Center at Shidell Memorial Hospital uses a multidisciplinary approach to bring together all the people and resources needed to successfully diagnose and treat cancer of any kind.

Skilled physicians, specially-trained nurses and experienced staff utilize the newest, most advanced technology and techniques to provide services and programs designed to make living with cancer easier on both patients and their families.

If you would like to know more about preventing, detecting and treating cancer, please call or write today.

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139

The regular meeting of the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139 was Monday, Nov. 11.

Janet Aime, president, opened the meeting; color-bearers Roslyn Weathers and Hazel Wohlschlegel advanced the colors; chaplain Ursula Favre read the opening prayer; the Pledge of Allegiance was led by Aime, followed by the Preamble; and Mary Cady and JoAnne Hille led the members in singing "God Bless America."

Secretary Jeanette Ladner called the roll of officers, then read the minutes of the previous meeting. Treasurer Bobby Tomlinson spoke on the financial status of the unit.

Aime introduced two speakers, Patricia Maulden and Meg Hilliker. Maulden spoke about the the cruise ship, Southern Elegance, and the foundation and hopes for the near future in this area; also invited the ladies to visit and see the ship when it is idle.

Hilliker, a member of the Women Veterans Auxiliary, told of the proposal and planning of a Women's Veterans Memorial in Washington, D.C., and asked former members of the services to contact her, as they would like to have all the women who served to have their names inscribed on this edifice.

There was a "Salute to Women Veterans" Friday, Nov. 15 at the VA Hospital in Biloxi under the sponsorship of the units in this area.

Bobby Tomlinson read the VACS report of Shirley Clemons, who is ill, and told of the successful Thanksgiving dinner sponsored by the unit, and asked members to bring their two gifts for the veterans' gift shop as soon as possible.

The December meeting will be the Christmas party, and each member is requested to bring a gift for exchange, also a covered dish.

The president asked the chaplain to read the closing prayers, the color-bearers retired the colors, and refreshments were served.

The Prospects Club

Women business professionals who find themselves excluded from local men's business clubs can be relieved. You no longer have to be intimidated when exchanging leads in a predominantly men's environment.

The Prospects Club, now recruiting for founding members, offers a ground-breaking opportunity for local professional women to network in the Gulfport area.

"It's really great. The week after my first meeting, I pursued three of the contacts I had met. And, I have already converted two of them into orders and the third is about to sign. So, if you're asking me, this club produces strong leads for real professionals," says Pam Emerson of the Nashville, Tenn. chapter.

The Prospects Club is a nationally chartered organization for professional women who focus on exchanging quality business leads, referrals and ideas with one another. "Your business will be promoted 52 weeks a year," says Phillis Wood, national founder of the organization.

How does The Prospects Club promote its members?

It holds weekly meetings, each with a member giving a presentation of her company, then they circulate for festive networking.

"If you're in a competitive business and would like to gain new customers, you need to seriously consider the benefits of a good networking club," says Wood. "We are organizing a local chapter and wish to announce this to local women business professionals."

For more information, contact The Prospects Club at 901-756-1298 or P.O. Box 757, Cordova, Tenn. 38018.

LET'S HONOR THOSE WHO HAVE RETURNED FROM THE BATTLE

While all throughout our history Our heroes fought to keep us free, Sometimes conditions will demand The liberation of some land, With allied nations, to defend The rights of others who depend On those of us who, on request, Will always rescue the oppressed. Our troops were recently released From service in the Middle East: That confrontation in the form Of "Operation Desert Storm." Let's thank the Lord for His concern In granting them a safe return; While praying for an end to war, So peace can reign forevermore.

BRENDA NECAISE-SHANAHAN and E. MICHAEL
NECAISE, PLAINTIFF(S)
VS.
UNKNOWN HEIRS AT LAW OF JOHN E. NECAISE,
DECEASED, DEFENDANT(S)

CIVIL ACTION, FILE NO. 22-812
THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI
TO UNKNOWN HEIRS AT LAW OF JOHN E. NECAISE
DECEASED

You have been made a Defendant in the ESTATE of JOHN E. NECAISE, deceased, in Case No. 22-812, in the Chancery Court of Hancock County, Mississippi. The Plaintiff(s) is/are BRENDA NECAISE-SHANAHAN and E. MICHAEL NECAISE, as sole and only heirs of John E. NeCAISE. Defendants other than you in this action are none.

You are required to mail or hand deliver a written response to the Plaintiff(s) at the address set forth in the summons, not later than the date of the first publication of this summons. If you fail to do so, a judgment by default will be entered against you for the money or other relief demanded in the complaint.

You must also file the original of your response with the Clerk of this Court within a reasonable time after the date of the first publication of this summons.

Witness my hand and the seal of said Court, this 1st day of November, 1991.

SUBSTITUTED TRUSTEE'S
NOTICE OF SALE

WHEREAS on October 22, 1990, Jeff Reynolds and Shanna M. Reynolds executed a Deed of Trust to Frank P. Wittmann III, Trustee for the benefit of Jeff B. Williams, which Deed of Trust is recorded in Deed of Trust Book 345 at Pages 305-307 in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi; and

WHEREAS, default has been made in the terms and conditions of said Deed of Trust and the entire debt secured thereby having been declared to be due and payable in accordance with the terms and conditions of said Deed of Trust, and the legal holder of said indebtedness, Jeff B. Williams, having requested the undersigned Substituted Trustee to execute the trust and sell said land and property in accordance with the terms of said Deed of Trust for the purpose of raising the sums due thereunder, together with Attorney's fees, Substituted Trustee's fees, and expenses of sale;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Karen DeMaz Pritchard, Substituted Trustee in said Deed of Trust, will on the 25th day of November, 1991, offer for sale at public outcry for cash to the highest bidder, and sell within legal hours (being between the hours of 11:00 A.M. and 4:00 P.M.) the tract of land described in the Deed of Trust to Jeff B. Williams, County of Hancock, State of Mississippi, the following described property situated and lying in the County of Hancock, State of Mississippi, to-wit: Lot 4, Subdivision of the Parish of Hancock County, Mississippi, as per the official map or plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi.

I will convey only such the as is vested in me as Substituted Trustee.

Witness my signature this 1st day of October, A.D. 1991.

Fall fashion '91

Quality most important for fall fashions this year

Even when the weather is tough, there are many ways to stay stylish. The key is to choose quality over quantity. This year, the fashion world is leaning towards classic, timeless pieces that will last through the seasons. Think of it as an investment in your wardrobe. A well-made jacket, a pair of quality shoes, or a classic dress can be worn for years to come. It's not just about looking good; it's about feeling good and confident in what you're wearing. Quality clothing is a statement of style and sophistication. It shows that you care about your appearance and that you're willing to invest in the best. So, when you're shopping for fall fashions, remember: quality is the most important factor. It's the difference between a fleeting trend and a timeless classic.

ing and new. It could be a quilted Aztec-print bomber jacket with faux fur collar, or the floppy little skirt with pleats that end in points. Or how about a work-right jacket in a new shape—longer and leaner, with couture pocket details? There are modern shapes, exciting new colors and luxurious fabrics. Everyday clothing is redefined, yet remains completely wearable. Nothing is shocking, but everything has the excitement of the new and different. Some of the details to look for this fall include: • Patent leather: It's not just for shoes and belts anymore, but turns up in parkas, fitted jackets and short skirts. • Faux fur: On collars and cuffs, it adds a luxe touch to jackets. And it comes in any color you can imagine. • Stretch: The new generation of stretch clothing is dressed up and ready for a night on the town. It's stretch satin, pucker stretch velvet, even stretch gabardine. • Trench coats: No longer the boring old standby, today's trenches come in gleaming satin, double-collared microfibre and faux fur. • Quilting: It shows up as couture-inspired diamond patterns in velvet, microfibre, silk and suede. It can be body-conscious in stretch velvet, or sporty in parkas and blouson jackets, even leather. Quilted prints show up on satin blazer and velvet jeans, or covered with sequins! • Zipper: Why hide them? Out in the open, they add zip to shaped jackets, dresses, bustiers. Slightly asymmetrical or straight up-and-down, they show up on everything from sporty blouses to proper tweeds. • Chenille: No longer just for bedspreads, it adds new texture to woven plaids and checks. It gives a new dimension to knits, and is just the right weight for tunics and pullovers. For work, details count.

Shapely suits are made for a woman's body. New colors on collars make you stand out from the crowd. Beautiful buttons and contrasting colors on collars and pocket flaps add allure to jackets and coats. For weekends, look for colorful patterned sweaters that are long enough to be worn over contrasting tights, and ribbed turtlenecks to wear over leggings with a wide belt to pull it all together. For evenings, think all-out excitement. Every eye will be on you when you wear a body-conscious purple velvet dress, with a row of gold buttons down the front. Or how about the artful impact of a shapely color-blocked dress in black and scarlet? The best fall clothes are wearable art made for the charismatic woman who emulates no one but herself. She is the star of her own life and dresses for the part.

Minimizing UV damage to skin

that the rate of skin aging is linked to too much sun. The good news is that there are many things we can do today to make the most of the hand heredity has dealt us. One of the variables over which we have the greatest control is exposure to ultraviolet

(UV) rays, which is now recognized as one of the major contributors to premature aging in skin and, ultimately, to skin cancer. How can we minimize the harmful effects of UV exposure? Consider the following simple but effective "skin saving strategies." 1. Make UV protection a part of your daily routine. Skin-damaging UV rays are not just a summer phenomenon; they are present all day, all year. On the average, 80 percent of your UV exposure each year occurs in random, incidental circumstances—walking down a city street, gardening, or taking a lunchtime stroll—not intended to produce a tan. An effective photoprotection moisturizer can greatly reduce the negative consequences of this indirect exposure, while restoring the skin's essential moisture balance.

A wardrobe checklist

Start your fall fun with all your clothing essentials. Here are a few things that are must-haves for fall '91. • Jackets: The longer silhouettes are preferred (some with meanswear styling), double breasted or not. Wear them over short skirts or slim pants for loose/fitted effects. Cropped and fitted jackets haven't lost their appeal, especially if worn over straight skirts or pants to create suit looks. • Pants: Still slim in the majority. Keep a few jodhpurs, ski/jogging pants, and leggings in your wardrobe to create a variety of looks. Denimwear styling in dress pants continues to be important. • Skirts: Short (19"-20") and sexy reigns, but also consider owning the variety in vogue: Straight to the knee, mid-calf and ankle lengths (whether slim or flowing), sarongs, short and pleated styles, A-lines with a high waist... or try pairing a long wrap over a stretch mini for an interesting optical effect. • Dresses: Just about any silhouette can make a statement. Whether short and sexy or longer and flowing, we will see fit-and-flare, chemises, trapeze contours, A-lines, fitted torsos with ample skirts... and much more.
